

Advocating on behalf of the individuals living with a skin condition.

2023/2024 Annual Report

Kelly Barta
Executive Director

Dear Partners,

As we reflect on the accomplishments of the past year, I am proud to share how, together, we have made significant strides in advocating for the 84+ million Americans living with skin conditions. Your continued support and partnership has been instrumental in advancing our shared mission to raise awareness to the burden and impact of skin diseases, improve access to healthcare and treatments, and promote vital research into dermatologic diseases.'

Throughout this past year, the Coalition of Skin Diseases has remained steadfast in our commitment to ensuring that the voices of individuals affected by skin conditions are heard at all levels of government and within the healthcare system. Through strategic advocacy and educational efforts, we have achieved remarkable milestones.

A standout event in our advocacy efforts this year was the CSD Fly-In Hill Day held in April, where 58 passionate advocates from 21 states came together to meet with legislators on Capitol Hill. This incredible event was an essential part of our efforts to raise awareness and drive policy change. The voices of those living with skin conditions, alongside the expertise of our stakeholders, made a lasting impact in Washington, D.C. as we rallied for change.

Looking ahead, we remain committed to strengthening our work and advocating on behalf of those whose voices often go unheard. Our efforts are only possible because of your support, and we are deeply grateful for your ongoing partnership. Together, we will continue to build on this foundation, ensuring that skin diseases are not only recognized but addressed with the seriousness they deserve. Thank you for your unwavering commitment to our cause. We look forward to another year of progress and continued collaboration.

ADVOCACY

In April 2024, 58 passionate Coalition Members – hailing from 21 states – came together to amplify their voices and advocate for crucial policy changes at the CSD's 2024 Hill Day event. CSD advocates conducted meetings with 57 legislative offices. The collective plea to policymakers was clear – a call for enhanced access to quality care and treatment options for individuals battling skin diseases, alongside a strong request for increased funding to advance research and educational initiatives in the field.

Our advocates were met with listening ears and in many cases a positive response from legislators and their staff to support bills on our policy agenda, which included step therapy and pharmacy benefit manager (PBM) reform and banning Copay Accumulator programs. Our “asks” also included robust funding to the National Institutes of Health (NIH), specifically skin disease research at the National Institute of Arthritis and Musculoskeletal and Skin Diseases (NIAMS), along with increased funding toward the Chronic Diseases Education and Awareness Program at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

The CSD's Congressional Briefing was met with enthusiastic participation from a diverse array of attendees, including representatives from congressional offices, federal agencies, institutions, and industry. The feedback we received was overwhelmingly positive, with many expressing that the content presented was truly eye-opening and impactful. The coalition is proud of all our patient advocates who took time away from work and family to be involved, with a special note of gratitude to our members who bravely shared their stories through video media and in person, truly embodying the spirit of our cause.

The CSD appreciates the support received from our members through member dues. These resources are used to underwrite operations, provide education for our patient groups, raise awareness through exhibiting at key meetings for the dermatology community, advocate for skin disease patients, and stakeholder engagement. We also are grateful to our corporate sponsors providing grants that are allocated toward specific, missions related programming.
